ABOUT HIGH POINT

High Point is not only the home furnishing capital of the world, but it’s also a diverse business community with industries ranging from manufacturing to biotech enterprises.

High Point’s Piedmont Triad region of North Carolina, the 37th largest metro area in the nation, is home to 1.6 million residents. This location is key to its success. It’s the midpoint between Charlotte and Raleigh, Washington, D.C., and Atlanta, and New York and Miami. It’s surrounded by an impressive transportation network including I-40, I-85, I-73 and I-74. Also, it’s only minutes from Piedmont Triad International Airport.

The area thrives on its entrepreneurial spirit and because of this, new industries are always emerging. Most recently biotech, pharmaceutical, distribution and warehousing businesses have begun, giving High Point a well rounded industry portfolio for the new economy.

The region boasts business and industrial parks like Piedmont Centre, Piedmont Corporate Park, and Premier Center.
CULTURAL ENRICHMENT SERIES

Each year, High Point University offers a stimulating lineup of unique events for students, faculty, staff and community members. The schedule features a variety of art, music and theatre performances, as well as special speakers who will visit campus. Many events are part of the Faculty Cultural Enrichment Grant Series. The grant series assists HPU faculty in planning vibrant, intellectually stimulating cultural events that feature nationally renowned academicians, artists and performers. The grants support programming in all academic disciplines and help introduce students to thought provoking ideas in art, literature, science, philosophy and business.

The Cultural Enrichment Series features scores of world-renowned thought-leaders and speakers, including General Colin L. Powell, Steve Wozniak, Steve Forbes, Malcolm Gladwell, Former First Lady Laura Bush, Bill Cosby and Coca-Cola Company Chairman and CEO Muhtar Kent. Guest speakers are selected as part of an intentional effort to provide students and the community the opportunity to understand diverse viewpoints, positions and backgrounds.
